DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

Claims 1-20 are objected to because of the following informalities and/or defects:

Claims 1, 5 and 10 each need to further clarify what exactly the terms of "which" refer to in the claims.

In claim 10, line 8, the term of "each include" should read as: --includes--.

Claim 15 needs to further clarify the direction of each of the fuse regions, given that a fuse region is normally a 2-D area that has at least two directions along its edges.

In claims 16 and 17, the term of "a predetermined" should read as: --by a predetermined--.

Claim 18 needs to further clarify the terms of: "the same direction", "one" and "perpendicular to the plurality of fuse regions" (see the above note for claim 15).

Claims 19 and 20 need to further clarify the relationship(s) between the first and second fuses and the fuse regions already recited in claim 18.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 2, 5, 6 and 9, as being best understood in view of the claim objections above, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Yoon (KR 2001-0029286 (Application No. 99-42035), June 2001; of record).

Yoon discloses a fuse bank (Figs. 2-4; also see US 6,448,626 for its English translation), comprising: first and second fuses (313 and 314), each having a fuse region (the corresponding section inside 323) in a first direction, a first connecting line region (including a corresponding upper edge portion in 323 and the corresponding portion in 321) bent along a second direction, and a second connecting line region (including a corresponding lower edge portion in 323 and the corresponding portion in 322) bent along a third direction.

Regarding claims 5, 6 and 9, it is noted that the first pair of fuses (311 and 312) and second pair of fuses (313 and 314) can be regarded as the first and second fuse groups, respectively; and/or, that the device of Yoon is for a fuse-based defect-correctable DRAM, which normally naturally includes a large amount of repeating basic fuse structures like the one shown in Figs. 2 and/or 3.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 2811

Claims 3, 4, 7, 8 and 10-20, as being best understood in view of the claim objections above, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yoon in view of AAPA (Applicant's Admitted Prior Art) and/or Sakuta (Sakuta et al., US 5,208,782).

The disclosure of Yoon is discussed as applied to claims 1, 2, 5, 6 and 9 above.

Although Yoon does not expressly disclose that the connecting lines can be bent so as to have a right angle to the fuse region's direction, and/or that neighboring fuse banks/groups can be symmetrical about the direction perpendicular to the fuse region's direction, one of ordinary skill in the art would readily recognize that any or all of the connecting lines can be formed perpendicular to the fuse region's direction for obtained a desirable interconnection/orientation layout and/or for reducing layout space, as evidenced in AAPA (see Fig. 2); and/or that such type of perpendicular-direction symmetrical layout is one of the most commonly used circuit layouts in the art for forming the commonly desirably mirror-image-type symmetrical circuit layout and/or for reducing circuit space, as evidenced in Sakuta (see the symmetric circuit layouts in Figs. 4-7).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to incorporate the right-angle connecting lines of AAPA and/or the perpendicular-direction symmetrical circuit layout of Sakuta, so that a memory device with desired layout, and/or with reduced space, for the connecting lines and/or for the memory circuits therein.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-20 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
